There are so many solutions for this task, but all of them are using date() function, but it needs to be the good and stable alternative, not just a dirty workaround to solve this simple problem. A: If you're asking for a nice function to get the current date and time as a string, then this isn't a simple problem. Just use the date function (Note: I'm also not a PHP dev, so I may be describing what's normal in that language). $date = date("Y-m-d"); $datetime = date("Y-m-d H:i:s"); But I wouldn't advise it, as then people can't tell what exact time you're getting, and if it's changing, you're really going to get back a terrible date/time string. A: Extracting date can be done with a simple, one-line function using strtotime. Code: $date = "2012-01-28 15:31:38"; $datetime = date("Y-m-d h:i:s",strtotime($date)); It works well with format chaining, but you may need to also pre-string the date to be sure everything is in the right order. For that, you need to prepend the format string first, and then add your date to it, like so: $date = "2012-01-28 15:31:38"; $date = date("Y-m-d",strtotime($date)); $datetime = date("Y-m-d H:i:s",strtotime($date,strtotime
